$800,000 Water Expansion Proposed

Leist Given OK to Check Financing

Improvements To Include Tank, Iron Removal

A $750,000-$800,000 water department improvement project is in the mill.

Ervin Leist, manager of utilities, last night was given the go-ahead by City Council to ask bond attorneys how the project can be financed.

Leist told the lawmakers that he felt the improvement can be financed by issuing general obligation bonds to be paid for out of water department revenues. A water rate increase probably would be necessary.

Council was told that engineers now are ready to say how much of a rate increase will be necessary to finance the project.

Plans call for refection of a 750,000 gallon elevated storage tank; installation of iron removal and softening equipment; a new building housing the equipment and a real estate at a cost of approximately $700,000, with an additional $50,000-$100,000 to be spent for distribution system improvements.

IF EVERYTHING works out as Leist hopes it will, the project possibly could be started in early 1959.

Plans for the project were first drawn in 1947 and then revised in 1954. Those plans have been brought up to date by Burgess & Niple, Columbus engineering firm. The 1954 estimate of cost was about $750,000. With increased costs of labor and materials, boosting of the storage tank capacity from 400,000 gallons to 750,000 gallons and construction of a new building and purchase of real estate, the price now stands in the vicinity of $750,000 to $800,000.

Leist's proposal is for Council to approve issuance of general obligation bonds to be paid out of water works revenue without the vote of the citizenry. He says the asked-for attorney's opinion will determine if financing can be accomplished in that manner.

Councilman Dudley Carpenter suggested that post cards be sent to water users asking if they want and need the long-sought improvements.

Improvements suggested by Leist and the engineers will give constant water pressures, remove iron from the water and soften it. The 750,000 gallon tank, Leist said, probably will improve pressure.

New Parking Lot Metered

Twenty new double parking meters and four single ones have been installed on the W. Franklin St. parking lot.

The meters were installed yesterday by Guy Waldeck, field supervisor for the Dual Parking Meter Co., Pittsburgh.

Installation of the meters completes the 44-space off-street parking facility which began last summer. It was financed by downtown businessmen and the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the parking lot committee today announced that many more spaces will be available on the lot now that it has been metered.

The meters will take nickels or quarters, with the fee 5 cents per hour.

Senators Propose New Labor Reform

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate labor subcommittee today approved a labor reform bill setting up a union democracy code and modifying major provisions of the Taft-Hartley law. The vote was 6-1.

Among other things, it would require secret ballot elections for union officers and public reporting of union financial data.

As approved by the subcommittee, the bill largely follows a draft introduced by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chairman of the group.

Chances that the bill will become law are doubtful. If passed by the Senate, it faces a highly uncertain fate in the House.

Dem Power Seen In California Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A strong shift toward the Democrats in the California primary gave Edmund G. (Pat) Brown a growing popular vote margin today over Sen. William F. Knowland in their contests for gubernatorial nominations.

Because each cross-filed on the opposition ticket, the election provided a test of general support that markedly favored Brown, the Democratic attorney general.

The Senate Republican leader's home county, Alameda, even gave Brown a substantial popular vote margin. The 53-year-old Brown's two-party vote total throughout the state was unprecedented in a governorship race.

Returns from 14,257 of California's 26,363 precincts showed Brown's total vote from both Republicans and Democrats was 943,537; Knowland's was 602,495. Although each won in his own primary, the results bore out Democratic claims that Brown would have a decided edge in the overall vote. But Knowland, who is giving up his role of Senate Republican leader to seek the governorship, called it "just the opening skirmish."

ON OTHER primary fronts Tuesday:

1. Retiring Gov. Goodwin Knight defeated Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco in a relatively close race for the Republican senatorial nomination.

The Democratic nomination went to Rep. Clair Engle, who had no opposition from within his party. Engle's vote total for both primaries under the cross-filing system far surpassed that of Knight.

2. State Atty. Gen. John Patterson won the Democratic nomination for governor in Alabama in a runoff primary with Circuit Judge George C. Wallace. The nomination means virtual victory in Democratic-dominated Alabama.

3. Sen. Mike Mansfield, assistant majority leader in the Senate, staked out an early lead in Montana in his bid for Democratic renomination. Mansfield held a 6-1 lead over John Nickey and Thomas G. Stimatz.

Mrs. Blanche Anderson, a Helena widow, was leading Louis W. Welch for the GOP senatorial nomination.

4. Another state's attorney general, Phil Saunders, gained nomination for governor on the Republican ticket in South Dakota. Saunders, 38, defeated Lt. Gov. Roy Hauck and Charles Lacey.

Ralph Herseth, a farmer and merchant, took the Democratic nomination without challenge.

OSU Keeping Eye On Sputnik Rocket

COLUMBUS (AP)—The rocket which put Sputnik III into orbit now is about an hour ahead of the instrument-carrying satellite, an Ohio State University scientist reported today.

Dr. John D. Kraus, director of OSU's Radio Observatory, said daily observations show the rocket is gaining 3 to 4 minutes per day on the satellite and should lap the satellite in another 10 days or so.

The scientist said the radio telescope recordings show another pair of objects in the Sputnik orbit, in addition to the rocket and the satellite. One of the objects is 20 minutes ahead of the rocket, the other 20 minutes behind.

New Premier To Ponder Touchy Issues

'Integration' Problem Of French, Moslems To Be High on Agenda

ALGIERS (AP)—Premier De Gaulle landed in Algeria today for a fateful meeting with the French insurgents who seized control of the vast North African territory.

A tumultuous hero's welcome greeted the World War II leader brought back to power by the insurgency of French colonists and military chiefs in Algeria.

Waiting beside the runway were Gen. Raoul Salan, the top insurgent commander, and all the other leading military men and civilians of the Public Safety Committee now ruling Algeria.

Dressed in his general's uniform, the usually grim De Gaulle beamed as he stepped from the 500-mile-an-hour jetliner.

Tremendous cheers went up from the huge crowd, which broke through police lines at several points. However, the crowds were quickly pushed back.

THE AIRPORT ceremonies lasted less than 15 minutes. Then De Gaulle and Salan entered a car and sped into the city.

The general carried with him France's hopes that he can reunite the rebellious French in Algeria with the motherland and also that he can make a start toward settling the costly, bloody Moslem war for independence.

Underneath the hero's welcome was a wide band of uncertainty about the new premier's program for ending the rebellion carried on for nearly four years by Moslem nationalists.

These questions are paramount: Will he try to settle the problem by more liberal policies toward the Moslems?

If he proposes "integration"—of French and Moslems (politically, socially and economically) how far will he go?

How can he reconcile the aspirations of nearly nine million Moslems with the deep-rooted interests and emotions of 1½ million Frenchmen, who from the first have insisted Algeria is French?

In short, the word "integration" bristles with almost as many problems here and with some of the same emotional overtones as it does in the Southern parts of the United States.

U.S. Studies Hike In Russian Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States began looking into the possibility of increased trade with the Soviet Union today on the basis of a direct bid from Premier Khrushchev to President Eisenhower.

The issue of Western trade policy toward the Soviet Union seems likely to come up in top-level U.S.-German and U.S.-British policy talks in the next few days.

President Theodore Heuss of West Germany and Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano began a visit today with Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles. British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will hold two days of conferences here beginning Monday.

The latest Khrushchev letter possibly was timed with those meetings in mind. The State Department announced only that "the subject matter concerns trade relations between Russia and the United States."

BUT IT WAS learned that Khrushchev put before the President his announced desire to obtain large amounts of equipment for increasing Soviet industrial capacity for the manufacture of synthetic materials and plastics.

Officials said that Khrushchev probably would have no difficulty in buying in this or other Western industrial countries any machinery not barred from trade with the Soviet Union.

But the Allies maintain a list of goods denied to Soviet commerce because, in the view of Western governments, they would increase Soviet military strength.

The definition of what industrial equipment would contribute to Soviet war potential, however, is a controversial problem among the Western powers. And Khrushchev's letter coupled with a long-time Moscow campaign against the strategic trade control system may very well stir the controversy afresh.

High Court Rule on SUB Expected Today

Ohio Tribunal Due To Say Whether It Will Review Case

COLUMBUS (AP)—Thousands of jobless workers looked to the Ohio Supreme Court today for a nod to start collecting millions of dollars in Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB).

The court is expected to say in an announcement late this afternoon whether SUB payments can start immediately or must await a later decision.

If the court refuses to review favorable SUB decisions by Mahoning County courts in two test cases, attorneys said payments could start promptly.

But if the court agrees to review, a final decision on merits of the cases will come later.

Judges have not indicated whether such a decision could be handed down this month, as urged by Gov. C. William O'Neill, or might require considerable time.

Nor have they indicated whether such a decision would ban or sanction SUB payments concurrent with state unemployment compensation.

LOWER COURTS held that jobless workers covered by SUB contracts could receive SUB and state jobless benefits at the same time. Those decisions upset a ruling by James R. Tichenor, State Bureau of Unemployment Compensation administrator.

He held that SUB is remuneration. (Continued on Page Two)

Atlas Firing Data Studied By Airmen

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force continued collecting telemetry data today on the successful performance of its latest Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

The huge missile, this nation's only intercontinental weapon to reach the test stage, roared into the late afternoon sun Tuesday what appeared to be a beautiful start.

Analysis of the shoot will help Atlas technicians prepare for the first intercontinental-range flight which is expected within the next two months.

Tuesday's was the first Atlas launching in two months. The rocket seemed to behave perfectly.

The test, eighth in the series, reportedly covered a limited range of 600 miles. The Atlas was built to travel more than 6,000 miles, but it hasn't come close to that distance to date.

Meanwhile, the Army's Jupiter missile, staging a dramatic comeback from an order that almost sent it to the ashcan, appears headed for large-scale production.

The Pentagon said it has authorized the creation of a complete production line for Jupiter missiles at the Chrysler Corp.'s Warren, Mich., plant.

The decision, giving a new lease on life to the big intermediate range ballistic missile, is believed to stem from the latest firing of a Jupiter May 18 at Cape Canaveral, Fla. It was fired into a target area 1,600 miles away.

Peron Statues Ordered Beheaded

PIETRASANTA, Italy (AP)—Heroic 16-foot statues of Juan and Eva Peron lay in a marble works today, beheaded by order of the Argentine government.

Emilio Yaregui, the economic counselor of the Argentine Embassy in Brussels, brought orders for the beheading to the marble works. The two heads weighed almost 1,000 pounds each.

The statues were ordered when Peron was at the peak of his power as dictator of Argentina. They were designed to go on top of a marble mausoleum for the Perons. But since 1955, when the dictator was overthrown, they had been standing unclaimed.

Army, Navy Academy Grads Hear Talks by Ike, McElroy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Army and Navy military academies graduated new classes today and the newly commissioned second lieutenants and ensigns heard the top military spokesmen of the nation—Defense Secretary McElroy and President Eisenhower.

At West Point, McElroy said disputes within the military organization should be settled without running to Congress.

But he contended that a congressional plan for defense reorganization would encourage the opposite.

The bill is now awaiting House action. Eisenhower, like McElroy, has criticized a provision which would permit top officials in the military services to act on their own initiative in taking problems to Congress. Eisenhower said it could lead to "legalized insubordination."

McELROY ASSURED the cadets that the separate traditions of the military services are "sources of great strength for the nation and therefore the individual services will be preserved as separate organizations."

He cautioned, however, that the continued separation of military organizations "must not offer obstacles to the truly unified operations of our combat forces."

At Annapolis, Eisenhower told Naval Academy graduates their overriding goal in this nuclear age must be prevention of war and promotion of world peace.

But he said too that a just peace can be won only from a position of strength—and that the armed services "have become, indeed, great shields to guard the peace."

In sounding that note, Eisenhower also plugged for his controversial defense reorganization program without mentioning it specifically. He told the graduates to keep up to date on the principles of effective military management.

Then he added: "Obsolescence in military management and organization can be as dangerous to our nation as obsolescence in weaponry."

No Increase Seen In Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government officials say unemployment figures for May, due out Friday, are expected to show fewer than five million persons jobless.

April figures marked a less-than-seasonal decline of 78,000 from March. After allowance for seasonal factors, the percentage of the civilian labor force out of work in April rose to 7½ per cent.

The officials said the May figures are not expected to show much change in this ratio. But they said the report will show an increase in employment, attributed chiefly to upswings in farming and other outdoor work.

Total employment in April was listed at 62,907,000 or about 1¼ million below April 1957.

Khrushchev Takes New Job At Tito's Communism

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev has accused Yugoslavia of planting a Trojan horse in the Communist camp through President Tito's theories of independent communism.

In his first public criticism of the Yugoslav party's policy, Khrushchev said in Bulgaria that the only true brand of communism is that of Russia.

The Soviet party will not put up with "distortions of ideological issues," Khrushchev told the Bulgarian Communist party.

The gold-plated hot dog was mounted as a desk piece.

$800,000 Water Expansion Proposed

Leist Given OK to Check Financing

Improvements To Include Tank, Iron Removal

A $750,000-$800,000 water department improvement project is in the mill.

Ervin Leist, manager of utilities, last night was given the go-ahead by City Council to ask bond attorneys how the project can be financed.

Leist told the lawmakers that he felt the improvement can be financed by issuing general obligation bonds to be paid for out of water department revenues. A water rate increase probably would be necessary.

Council was told that engineers now are ready to say how much of a rate increase will be necessary to finance the project.

Plans call for rection of a 750,000 gallon elevated storage tank; installation of iron removal and softening equipment; a new building housing the equipment and real estate at a cost of approximately $700,000, with an additional $50,000-$100,000 to be spent for distribution system improvements.

IF EVERYTHING works out as Leist hopes it will, the project possibly could be started in early 1959.

Plans for the project were first drawn in 1947 and then revised in 1954. Those plans have been brought up to date by Burgess & Niple, Columbus engineering firm.

The 1954 estimate of cost was about $575,000. With increased costs of labor and materials, boosting of the storage tank capacity from 400,000 gallons to 750,000 gallons and construction of a new building and purchase of real estate, the price now stands in the vicinity of $750,000 to $800,000.

Leist's proposal is for Council to approve issuance of general obligation bonds to be paid out of water works revenue without the vote of the citizenry. He says the asked-for attorney's opinion will determine if financing can be accomplished in that manner.

Councilman Dudley Carpenter suggested that post cards be sent to water users asking if they want and need the long-sought improvements.

Improvements suggested by Leist and the engineers will give constant water pressures, remove iron from the water and soften it.

The 750,000 gallon tank, Leist said, probably will improve pressure.

Dem Power Seen In California Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A strong shift toward the Democrats in the California primary gave Edmund G. (Pat) Brown a growing popular vote margin today over Sen. William F. Knowland in their contests for gubernatorial nominations.

Because each cross-filed on the opposition ticket, the election provided a test of general support that markedly favored Brown, the Democratic attorney general.

The Senate Republican leader's home county, Alameda, even gave Brown a substantial popular vote margin. The 53-year-old Brown's two-party vote total throughout the state was unprecedented in a governorship race.

Returns from 14,257 of California's 26,363 precincts showed Brown's vote total from both Republicans and Democrats was 943,537; Knowland's was 602,495. Although each won in his own primary, the results bore out Democratic claims that Brown would have a decided edge in the overall vote. But Knowland, who is giving up his role of Senate Republican leader to seek the governorship, called it "just the opening skirmish."

ON OTHER primary fronts Tuesday:

1. Retiring Gov. Goodwin Knight defeated Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco in a relatively close race for the Republican senatorial nomination.

The Democratic nomination went to Rep. Clair Engle, who had no opposition from within his party. Engle's vote total for both primaries under the cross-filing system far surpassed that of Knight.

2. State Atty. Gen. John Patterson won the Democratic nomination for governor in Alabama in a runoff primary with Circuit Judge George C. Wallace. The nomination means virtual victory in Democrat-dominated Alabama.

3. Sen. Mike Mansfield, assistant majority leader in the Senate, staked out an early lead in Montana in his bid for Democratic renomination. Mansfield held a 6-1 lead over John Nickey and Thomas G. Stimatz.

Mrs. Blanche Anderson, a Helena widow, was leading Louis W. Welch for the GOP senatorial nomination.

4. Another state's attorney general, Phil Saunders, gained nomination for governor on the Republican ticket in South Dakota. Saunders, 38, defeated Lt. Gov. Roy Hauck and Charles Lacey.

Ralph Herseth, a farmer and merchant, took the Democratic nomination without challenge.

U.S. Studies Hike In Russian Trade

Stockyard Firm Seeks Recovery Of $18,921 Loan

The Columbus Union Stockyards represented by Tom A. Renick, today filed in Pickaway Co. Common Pleas Court a suit for $18,921.25 against Arthur Berger, Commercial Point.

The stockyards stated in its petition, filed by president and manager, Frank B. Teegardin, that on Aug. 13, 1957 it loaned Berger, on his request, the sum of $18,921.25 which he promised to pay on demand. The plaintiff demanded payment on Aug. 21, 1957, but no part of the loaned amount has been repaid. The stockyards asks for the total payment plus interest and costs incurred in reclaiming the money.

This is the sixth suit, for a total of $63,404.61 filed against Berger for money due by him. Others suing include two suits by the Washington C. H. Union Stockyards, Scioto Bank, and two suits by Herbert Wunder.

And Then Someone Saw the True Light

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Dallas Hamilton, a milk route driver called the Ohio Edison Co. and complained that his electrical service had been cut off. He wanted something done about it.

The voice on the telephone told him to be sure and turn on his porch light so company men could find the house.

An embarrassing silence followed. But Hamilton helped out with this gentle suggestion: "You'll be able to find it easily; it's the only house on the street without lights."

tures all over town. Average pressure now is 45-46 pounds. If the tank is built, the pressure expected would be about 55-60 pounds. One possible location for the elevated tank is east of N. Pickaway St. in the area from Berger Hospital south to the Hind road property.

Present iron content of the water is about .6 parts iron per million gallons, Leist said. Anything over .3 parts is considered objectionable, he stated. With iron removal equipment, the iron content probably could be cut to less than the .3 parts per million.

SOFTENING, Leist said, is a comparative luxury. If installed when other construction is under way, the cost probably would be in the neighborhood of $150,000, but if built later the price would be about $200,000.

Type of softening equipment depends on whether or not the present underground water galleries can produce 3,000,000 gallons of water per day. If they can the zeolite system of softening will be used.

If the galleries cannot provide the 3,000,000 gallons per day, Leist said water will have to be obtained from Darby Creek and the lime-soda softening process will be used.

He declared that currently there are 20 grains of hardness per gallon in the water. If softened, the hardness would probably be reduced to about 3 grains per gallon.

The distribution system improvement would include elimination of dead ends in the system, plus construction of new feeder lines from the elevated tank.

Plates Serve Well But Not Legally

POSTORIA (AP) — Ben Myers, of nearby Rinsington, has been notified by the sheriff's office that he drove blithely through most of last year with the wrong license plates on his car.

This came to light after a Wapakoneta woman wrote Myers that he owed her $50 for having a car parked on her private lot for many months.

Myers wrote back that the car wasn't his.

But the woman responded that a license check showed the plates had been issued to his name.

The sheriff's office speculated that someone had switched plates early last year and abandoned the other car in Wapakoneta.

Honey Bees Depart, Leaves Sticky Evidence

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Beensstra got rid of two swarms of bees which took up residence at their house but have been unable to eliminate the honey left behind. It's dripping down walls and screens from between the roof beams. Efforts to bore holes and siphon out the honey have been unsuccessful.

Rocket Allows Man To Run With Speed of Racehorse

DENVILLE, N. J. (AP) — Development of a portable rocket unit allowing a man to run with the speed of a racehorse and jump extraordinary heights was described here today.

Reaction Motors, manufacturer of rocket fuels for missiles and aircraft, said it has run successful tests on a unit strapped to a man's body. The unit provides enough thrust to partially overcome the pull of gravity and give a man a degree of weightlessness.

The device will increase the mobility of troops in battle, a Reaction Motors spokesman said, and the Army is "very much enthusiastic."

The motor was conceived by Alexander H. Bohr, a onetime Army technical sergeant, now an engineer for Reaction Motors.

Robert Mayer, supervisor of public information for the firm, said the rocket is not a flying machine. By reducing the effect of gravity on a man, the rocket allows him to make better use of his muscles.

"He can run faster, can jump across rivers, scale walls and cliffs, jump extraordinary heights, and not be tired when he gets there," Mayer said. Mayer pleaded patent secrecy in releasing only sketchy details of the device. He said no photos are available. Several other companies are working on the idea.

Several versions of the small motor have been tried out at Reaction Motors' test grounds at Lake Denmark, about seven miles from the main plant in this northwest New Jersey community.

"One of our engineers ran at superhuman speed," Mayer said. "According to calculations, the unit permitted him to go as fast as a good thoroughbred racehorse."

tion under Ohio's jobless compensation law and must be deducted from state unemployment benefits. The state's maximum benefit is $39 a week for 26 weeks for a worker with a family.

SUB contracts between unions and employers are designed to supplement state benefits so that workers would receive about two-thirds of their take-home pay while unemployed.

The AFL-CIO Steelworkers Union challenged Tichenor's ruling in a declaratory judgment suit. Defendants are four steel companies: United States Steel, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Jones & Laughlin.

A second suit against Tichenor by Joseph Posey of Youngstown, a Republic Steel employee, is clear-cut on the issue of SUB without the question of court jurisdiction contained in the first case.

O'Neill said if the way is cleared for SUB payments, about 40,000 Ohio jobless would be eligible for some $15 million in back SUB benefits.

HE ADDED that weekly payments would range between $800, 000 and a million dollars during further unemployment.

Aides of the governor said his figures came from steel and rubber industry sources.

Union spokesmen expressed belief the figures were too conservative. They reported last April that 90,000 laid off workers were eligible for SUB payments of $1,624.018 a week. They said the totals would run higher now.

The union report followed a still earlier estimate by Tichenor that only about 20,000 Ohio workers were eligible for about $500,000 a week in SUB benefits at that time.

Suspended Judge Fails In Renomination Bid

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Raulston Schofield, 52-year-old suspended judge, lost in his bid for renomination.

Complete returns gave Campbell Carden, a 43-year-old attorney making his first political venture, a margin of almost 2-1 over Schofield in Tuesday's Hamilton County Democratic primary.

Stock Mart Nudges to Narrow Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market nudged ahead for narrow gains in active trading early this afternoon.

Gains of most leading stocks were fractional. There were scattered losers.

Some leading steels, aircrafts, chemicals and oils made limited gains. Motors, nonferrous metals and rubbers were off a bit.

A certain amount of profit taking was apparent after three straight sessions of new average highs for 1958. Investment buying was still apparent, however, and the general run of business and economic news brought no drastic change.

Fractional gains were made by U. S. Steel and Bethlehem. Youngstown Sheet was off slightly.

Lorillard dropped about a point and American Tobacco rose a fraction.

Piper Aircraft jumped 2 1/4 to 21 1/4 on a big block of 7,000 shares. Chrysler rose a little following news that the Pentagon has authorized the firm to set up a production line for its Jupiter missile at Warren, Mich. Other motors performed indifferently.

American Telephone was traded heavily and was about unchanged.

U.S. government bonds were firm to slightly higher.

UAW Books Talks With Big Three

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union, holding an extension agreement with American Motors Corp., set about today to get its contract negotiations back on course with the car industry's big three.

Meetings were scheduled with General Motors Corp. and with Ford Motor Co., and another with Chrysler Corp. was believed in the offing.

American Motors, a smaller manufacturer, ignored the precedent of the big three and agreed with the UAW Tuesday to an indefinite contract extension.

The stockyards stated in its petition, filed by president and manager, Frank B. Teegardin, that on Aug. 13, 1957 it loaned Berger, on his request, the sum of $18,921.25 which he promised to pay on demand. The plaintiff demanded payment on Aug. 21, 1957, but no part of the loaned amount has been repaid. The stockyards asks for the total payment plus interest and costs incurred in reclaiming the money.

This is the sixth suit, for a total of $63,404.61 filed against Berger for money due by him. Others suing include two suits by the Washington C. H. Union Stockyards, Scioto Bank, and two suits by Herbert Wunder.

And Then Someone Saw the True Light

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Dallas Hamilton, a milk route driver called the Ohio Edison Co. and complained that his electrical service had been cut off. He wanted something done about it.

The voice on the telephone told him to be sure and turn on his porch light so company men could find the house.

An embarrassing silence followed. But Hamilton helped out with this gentle suggestion: "You'll be able to find it easily; it's the only house on the street without lights."

sure all over town. Average pressure now is 45-46 pounds. If the tank is built, the pressure expected would be about 55-60 pounds. One possible location for the elevated tank is east of N. Pickaway St. in the area from Berger Hospital south to the Himrod property.

Present iron content of the water is about .6 parts iron per million gallons, Leist said. Anything over .3 parts is considered objectionable, he stated. With iron removal equipment, the iron content probably could be cut to less than the .3 parts per million.

SOFTENING, Leist said, is a comparative luxury. If installed when other construction is under way, the cost probably would be in the neighborhood of $150,000, but if built later the price would be about $200,000.

Type of softening equipment depends on whether or not the present underground water galleries can produce 3,000,000 gallons of water per day. If they can the zeolite system of softening will be used.

If the galleries cannot provide the 3,000,000 gallons per day, Leist said water will have to be obtained from Darby Creek and the lime-soda softening process will be used.

He declared that currently there are 20 grains of hardness per gallon in the water. If softened, the hardness would probably be reduced to about 3 grains per gallon. The distribution system improvement would include elimination of dead ends in the system, plus construction of new feeder lines from the elevated tank.

Plates Serve Well But Not Legally

FOSTORIA (AP) — Ben Myers, of nearby Risingsun, has been notified by the sheriff's office that he drove blithely through most of last year with the wrong license plates on his car.

This came to light after a Wapakoneta woman wrote Myers that he owed her $50 for having a car parked on her private lot for many months.

Myers wrote back that the car wasn't his.

But the woman responded that a license check showed the plates had been issued to his name.

The sheriff's office speculated that someone had switched plates early last year and abandoned the other car in Wapakoneta.

Honey Bees Depart, Leaves Sticky Evidence

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Beestra got rid of two swarms of bees which took up residence at their house but have been unable to eliminate the honey left behind. It's dripping down walls and screens from between the roof beams. Efforts to bore holes and siphon out the honey have been unsuccessful.

Rocket Allows Man To Run With Speed of Racehorse

DENVILLE, N. J. (AP) — Development of a portable rocket unit allowing a man to run with the speed of a racehorse and jump extraordinary heights was described here today.

Reaction Motors, manufacturer of rocket fuels for missiles and aircraft, said it has run successful tests on a unit strapped to a man's body. The unit provides enough thrust to partially overcome the pull of gravity and give a man a degree of weightlessness.

The device will increase the mobility of troops in battle, a Reaction Motors spokesman said, and the Army is "very much enthusiastic."

The motor was conceived by Alexander H. Bohr, a onetime Army technical sergeant, now an engineer for Reaction Motors.

Robert Mayer, supervisor of public information for the firm, said the rocket is not a flying machine. By reducing the effect of gravity on a man, the rocket allows him to make better use of his muscles.

"He can run faster, can jump across rivers, scale walls and cliffs, jump extraordinary heights, and not be tired when he gets there," Mayer said.

Mayer pleaded patent secrecy in releasing only sketchy details of the device. He said no photos are available. Several other companies are working on the idea.

Several versions of the small motor have been tried out at Reaction Motors' test grounds at Lake Denmark, about seven miles from the main plant in this northwest New Jersey community.

"One of our engineers ran at superhuman speed," Mayer said. "According to calculations, the unit permitted him to go as fast as a good thoroughbred racehorse."

tion under Ohio's jobless compensation law and must be deducted from state unemployment benefits.

The state's maximum benefit is $39 a week for 26 weeks for a worker with a family.

SUB contracts between unions and employers are designed to supplement state benefits so that workers would receive a about two-thirds of their take-home pay while unemployed.

The AFL-CIO Steelworkers Union challenged Tichenor's ruling in a declaratory judgment suit. Defendants are four steel companies: United States Steel, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Jones & Laughlin.

A second suit against Tichenor by Joseph Posey of Youngstown, a Republic Steel employee, is clear-cut on the issue of SUB without the question of court jurisdiction contained in the first case.

O'Neill said if the way is cleared for SUB payments, about 40,000 Ohio jobless would be eligible for some $15 million in back SUB benefits.

HE ADDED that weekly payments would range between $800, 000 and a million dollars during further unemployment.

Aides of the governor said his figures came from steel and rubber industry sources.

Union spokesmen expressed belief the figures were too conservative. They reported last April that 90,000 laid off workers were eligible for SUB payments of $1,624,018 a week. They said the totals would run higher now.

The union report followed a still earlier estimate by Tichenor that only about 20,000 Ohio workers were eligible for about $500,000 a week in SUB benefits at that time.

Suspended Judge Fails In Renomination Bid

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Raoulston Schofield, 52-year-old suspended judge, lost in his bid for renomination.

Complete returns gave Campbell Carden, a 43-year-old attorney making his first political venture, a margin of almost 2-1 over Schofield in Tuesday's Hamilton County Democratic primary.

Testimony before the U. S. Senate Rackets Investigating Committee hearing of the Teamsters Union accused Judge Schofield of having accepted a bribe to dismiss the Teamsters case.

knows the answers to these questions.

As far as can be determined, not one of the officials in the military-civilian revolutionary regime here has the slightest inkling of what is in De Gaulle's mind.

And how do the Moslems regard the immediate outlook?

There has been a great surface effusion of Moslem and French amity since May 13. Arabs and Berbers participated in regular nightly demonstrations in the white marble forum in front of the government headquarters hailing De Gaulle and the local revolutionary group.

Buck for Better Citizenship

A national campaign is to be waged later this year to get the individual voter to contribute at least a dollar to the political party of his choice.

Political campaigns in the past have been financed by contributions from an estimated 2 per cent of the country's population. The suggestion that a non-partisan effort be made to widen this base was first put forward three years ago. It failed to get off the ground then because the two political parties could not agree on a plan of operation.

Now the program has the blessing of the chairmen of both the national committees. Plans include a house-to-house canvass by both parties. The Democrats will compress their roundup into four days beginning September 26. The Republican effort will extend over 30 days, closing October 14.

Advertising to inform the public of the new financing scheme will be carried in newspapers and other media with the slogan "Don't Pass the Buck—Give a Buck," which is not too original. It will be directed by the American Heritage Foundation and the Advertising Council.

Political observers have long held that the more widespread the interest in a political campaign the more confidence can be placed in the final outcome. This has led to many non-partisan "get-out-the-vote" drives.

The dollar being sought from each voter is a nominal sum but it could serve to revive a lagging interest in politics. The 2 per cent who have financed campaigns in the past probably will continue to contribute generously to the parties of their choice. But it is good for the parties to look to the little fellow who is willing to contribute a dollar or two. Voters of this type can, if enough of them will do this much, raise American politics to a higher plane.

What they must decide is whether they are willing to make this small sacrifice in an effort to improve the operation of the American elective system.

The True Formosan History

The Herald Statesman of Yonkers must have a TV guide who possesses the gift of clairvoyance. In a Saturday's newspaper, he writes a critique about an interview between Chiang Kai-shek and an NBC reporter which was to be shown on the following Sunday. This TV listener's comments give him the stature of a political reporter. It is a new example of editorial slanting off the editorial page. This is the comment:

"2:30 - 3:00 (4) Chiang Kai-shek Interview. The Generalissimo (sic), who scrupulously avoided answering most of the pertinent questions put to him by NBC's interviewer, emerges as a rather forlorn figure, advocating what now seems mere fanciful notions, devoid of any political reality. Worth your attention, if only for the added understanding it gives the viewer of this infrequently interviewed personality."

I watched that broadcast, having a deep interest in my old friend, Chiang Kai-shek, and in his wife, Meiling Soong. I have forgotten the name of the NBC interrogator, who came down from Tokyo to do the job and was much too excited, and the questions asked. I would say as a reporter of 40 years of experience, were mediocre. The NBC announcer insisted that they had asked Chiang a number of questions in advance which he declined to answer, one of which he described as "impolite," which it was.

Most of the time of this interview seemed to be taken up with a tourist view of Formosa and with a discussion of the differences between Formosans and Chinese which displayed an unusual lack of knowledge of the history either of Formosa or China. I recently saw an article in the magazine, "Foreign Affairs," in which somebody who comes from Formosa attempted to establish the nationalistic identity of the Formosans as distinct from the Chinese. I read the article but unfortunately for present purposes, threw it away as not worth filing. If the NBC folks got their ideas about the differentiation between Formosans and Chinese from that article, they surely went far afield. Or did it all come from the Japanese Foreign Office?

Taiwan, as Formosa is called in both Chinese and Japanese, is an island that forms part of a volcanic chain off the coast of China, running from Papua to the Kuriles. It has been held by the Dutch, the Spaniards, the Japanese and the Chinese at various times. In ancient Chinese annals the island was known as Loohoo and was first described by Ma Tuan-lin in 605. The name Formosa comes from the Portuguese, Ilha Formosa, beautiful island. The Portuguese, who saw the island in 1590, did not occupy it, but the name they used became incorporated in Dutch charts. When the Dutch came to Formosa in 1625, they found that a considerable Chinese population had already settled there, largely as a result of the fall of the Ming dynasty. The Spaniards also settled on Formosa which they called La Santissima Trinidad, The Holy Trinity.

A Chinese pirate, Koxinga (Chen Kung), attacked the Dutch in 1667 and took possession of the island. In 1683, China made the island part of Fukien Province which it remained until the Sino-Japanese War (1895) when it was ceded to Japan.

Before Chiang Kai-shek came to Taiwan, its population was aboriginal, Chinese and Japanese, with the Chinese prevailing. Most of the Chinese came from Fukien Province, the dialects of which are different from both Mandarin and Cantonese. Not-

Boys Groups Are Healthy

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

We hear more and more about neighborhood "gangs." With all the adverse publicity, the very word "gang" has come to have a sinister meaning.

From time immemorial, young boys have had their gangs, groups or clubs. Most of you men probably had a gang in your childhood. I know I did.

This is perfectly natural, even necessary. When boys become nine or ten years old, they have the desire, the need, to band together for their activities. Cub Scout packs and, for older boys, Boy Scout troops serve this need very well in many instances.

When these facilities are not available, or even when they are, I can see nothing wrong in permitting youngsters to organize their own little clubs or groups, providing there are wholesome activities in which these children can participate.

Organizing a neighborhood football or baseball club is an excellent way to capitalize on the natural boyish urge to "belong" and at the same time, promote good sportsmanship and team spirit.

There is no danger of such groups developing the tactics of rowdies if parents will take the time and effort to make sure there are plenty of opportunities for safe and legitimate activities.

For one thing, help your children and their young friends to set up a club house. Every group needs one. The closer it is to home, the easier it is to keep a watchful eye on the group's doings.

I don't want you to spy on your own children, and certainly the youngsters would resent any such attempt on your part. However, permitting the neighborhood kids to use a portion of your basement, attic, or a section of your backyard as a meeting place seems like a pretty sensible approach to the situation.

Trouble is much less likely to develop if an adult is handy to answer questions, perhaps even help settle disputes. Again let me emphasize, don't butt in! The kids must feel free to gather and discuss things as they please.

A boy is thrilled by the thought of a camping trip. If dad could take the whole gang along on an overnight outing, he would be one of the most popular persons in the neighborhood. His son and the other members of the gang would be enjoying healthy, wholesome activities.

Jim Farley Tosses Hat Into Senatorial Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Postmaster General James A. Farley has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator. He was 70 last Friday.

The seat is held by Irving M. Ives, a Republican who has announced he will not seek reelection this fall because of ill health.

Farley, who was Democratic national chairman for eight years during the presidency of Franklin D. Roosevelt, was the first Democrat to enter the race. No Republicans have announced so far.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Communists blew the roof off in 1956, and have been going around picking up the pieces ever since. They picked up a piece Tuesday, disclaiming the idea that communism outside the Soviet Union could develop independently of Moscow.

Nikita Khrushchev, then party boss and now premier, put on a shattering performance as principal speaker of the Soviet Communist party's 20th Congress in February 1956.

He not only denounced Stalin's one-man rule and the "cult of the individual" but painted him as a murderer. He pictured the Soviet Union in the future as being guided by a collective leadership instead of that of one man.

This had shock effect on some non-Soviet Communists who had slavishly followed and defended every twist and turn laid down by Stalin. This brutal disillusionment drove some Communists out of communism. It helped split the American Communist party.

But this was also a time—in 1956—when the Kremlin was trying to woo back Marshal Tito and his Yugoslav Communists who had broken with Stalin and were pursuing their own course, independent of Moscow.

So long as Tito could survive and thrive separate from the Soviet Union and her European satellites, he would be a constant encouragement to them to try the same.

The 20th Congress was told that socialism, meaning communism, could develop at different speeds and in different ways in different countries and that conformity to the Moscow model was not compulsory.

This was trying to make the best of a bad situation, since Tito showed no signs of conforming. It was also propaganda to help Communist parties in non-Communist countries make a show of acting as nationalists concerned about their own countries' Communist development without subservience to Moscow.

But it had a bad effect. It looked as if Moscow was loosening—or losing—its grip on Communists outside the Soviet Union. It caused confusion in non-Soviet Communist ranks. And it gave captive peoples the idea they might throw off communism altogether.

The first bad effects showed in Poland. There were riots there. Then the Hungarians revolted in the fall of 1956. Things were getting out of hand. The Soviets sent in their army and crushed the Hungarian rebels.

But Tito wouldn't be wooed. He continued to play footsie with both the Soviets and the West, going his own independent way, seeking aid from both sides. In recent weeks the Soviets finally and publicly got sore at him.

And Tuesday in Bulgaria Khrushchev hit out at the Yugoslav boss. Said Khrushchev: "No one will ever believe that there are two kinds of socialism (communism) in the world—one which world reaction furiously hates and the other which is agreeable to imperialists and to which they are giving their help and support."

Khrushchev said the Yugoslav leaders had declined to confer with other Communist parties to draft a general Communist program.

With these statements Khrushchev threw out the window those encouraging words of 1956: that different countries could follow their own road to communism without conforming to the Soviet model.

If any non-Soviet Communists took those words of 1956 seriously, and few probably did, they're disenchanting now.

Thus slowly and even painfully Khrushchev has been forced to repair the damage the Soviets did to themselves in February 1956.

Muskingum Flood Control Debt Erased

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The burning of $1,350,000 worth of bonds Tuesday night officially ended the flood control indebtedness of the 18-county Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District.

The bond burning on the stage of the Zanesville High School auditorium featured a day-long celebration of the 25th anniversary of the district's founding.

A crowd estimated at 1,000 heard speeches by Gov. C. William O'Neill, U. S. Rep. John E. Henderson, Cambridge Republican, and Robert T. Secrest, a member of the Federal Trade Commission. Secrest was formerly a congressman from Ohio's 15th district when the conservancy dams were built.

Gov. O'Neill in his speech noted that as a Marietta native he had gone through several devastating floods.

"So I know first-hand the tremendous accomplishments of the Muskingum Conservancy District in the fields of flood control, conservation and recreation," he added.

After overcoming initial problems, the governor said, the district in recent years has become a self-sustaining project with no requirements for federal aid.

An 8-by-15-foot mosaic tile plaque was presented to the district by the people of Zanesville. Receiving it was Bryce C. Brown, secretary-treasurer of the district since its inception.

Buck for Better Citizenship

A national campaign is to be waged later this year to get the individual voter to contribute at least a dollar to the political party of his choice.

Political campaigns in the past have been financed by contributions from an estimated 2 per cent of the country's population. The suggestion that a non-partisan effort be made to widen this base was first put forward three years ago. It failed to get off the ground then because the two political parties could not agree on a plan of operation.

Now the program has the blessing of the chairmen of both the national committees. Plans include a house-to-house canvass by both parties. The Democrats will compress their roundup into four days beginning September 26. The Republican effort will extend over 30 days, closing October 14.

Advertising to inform the public of the new financing scheme will be carried in newspapers and other media with the slogan "Don't Pass the Buck—Give a Buck," which is not too original. It will be directed by the American Heritage Foundation and the Advertising Council.

Political observers have long held that the more widespread the interest in a political campaign the more confidence can be placed in the final outcome. This has led to many non-partisan "get-out-the-vote" drives.

The dollar being sought from each voter is a nominal sum but it could serve to revive a lagging interest in politics. The 2 per cent who have financed campaigns in the past probably will continue to contribute generously to the parties of their choice. But it is good for the parties to look to the little fellow who is willing to contribute a dollar or two. Voters of this type can, if enough of them will do this much, raise American politics to a higher plane.

What they must decide is whether they are willing to make this small sacrifice in an effort to improve the operation of the American elective system.

Close Watch Being Given To Inventories

Factories Leading To Recovery Said
To Be Jelling Now

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Inventories are being watched more closely than ever today for a sign of a turnaround in business.

This is because the varied trends in other factors that could start recovery — consumer spending, government purchases, business outlay for capital goods—seem to be jelling.

There is growing reason to hope that the slight decline in consumer spending is at an end and that business now can count on a fairly level flow of consumer cash and credit.

Business spending for plants and equipment, while still high, is well below record 1957 and businessmen indicate there is little chance of any pickup here before next year. So that spur to the economy, it seems, must wait.

Government spending slowly but surely will increase and take up much of the gap. But that spur may be tardy too.

Spending for inventory is another matter — and one of the things that many businessmen admit they are the least certain how to handle.

The policy of sharply reducing stocks, coupled with the drop in capital goods outlays, has been credited with kicking off the present industrial slump. Many hold that when the bottom in inventory piling is reached the way will be open for solid, if slow, recovery.

Foreign turmoil as well as local recession can play a part in some inventory policies. Prices of many metals, rubber, oil, fibers and grains have been affected in the past by overseas upheavals—and a hint of more trouble could cause some industries to build up their supplies rather than go on cutting them.

But the thing that business is watching more closely right now is the evidence that final purchases of goods—mostly by consumers but a part by business—have been running higher than output of goods.

In time this means that inventory piling must stop and industrial output turn upward. In fact, the steady increase in recent weeks in steel output is being credited both to the end of inventory cutting by customers and the urge to beat any price hike July 1.

Dad Frees Son, 7, Tied to Tracks
NORWALK, Calif. (AP) — A small boy, tied to the railroad tracks by two teen-agers, was snatched from certain death by his father, only seconds before a speeding train roared by.

Michael Evans, 7, and two playmates rode their bikes to the tracks. Then two older boys leaped from nearby bushes and threatened them.

The teen-agers let the two playmates go, provided they would keep quiet about Michael's captivity. They ran to Michael's father instead.

The father sprinted to the scene, quickly untied his son and the boy scrambled to his feet just as the train thundered past.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: We read with interest your recent column referring a help-seeker to Recovery, Inc., for group therapy, and mentioning Dr. Abraham Low's book, "Mental Health Through Will Training" (Christopher Publishers, Boston, Mass.)

Your advice was sound. We enjoyed a close personal and social contact with Dr. (and later Mrs.) Low, during the years (after 1928) when he was establishing his practice and pursuing his studies in Chicago.

We followed his intimate discussions of his group-help method, which he was forced to adopt at Illinois Psychiatric — because of the sheer numbers of persons requiring psychiatric attention.

We knew of his struggles and great personal contributions of time and money, to establish and prove Recovery, Inc.

So I was interested to read in your recent column that Recovery, Inc., is still functioning; and still more, that "much has been written in respected journals" in recent years, giving evidence of a "rising tide of usage and approval of the methods outlined." Can you designate the articles to which you refer?

DEAR E.S.: In my file of popular literature on the subject of Recovery, Inc., I find these enclosures.

A reprint from the Dec. 6, 1952 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, of an article by Jack Alexander titled "They 'Doctor' One Another."

A reprint from Hospital Progress of March 1955 of an article titled: "On Mental Health-Recovery, Inc." by Rev. John J. Higgins, S.J., adviser to Recovery, Inc., at Park College of St. Louis University.

A brochure published Jan. 20, 1955 by The Queen's Work, St. Louis, Mo., titled "Recovery Inc." — and prepared by Martin Rutherford.

Part of Flight
Made on Ground

ALPHARETTA, Ga. (AP) — C. G. Dutcher of Winnetka, Ill., made one leg of his flight to Florida on the ground.

Flying his light plane to West Palm Beach, where his wife is, he ran out of gas.

He landed in a corn field, got some gas from a filling station, then taxied down a highway about 10 miles to a baseball field, which provided room for a takeoff.

OSU Engineer Medal
To Go to Cleveland

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Benjamin G. Lamme Medal, one of Ohio State University's highest honors, will be awarded Cleveland scientist Harley C. Lee at the university's commencement June 13.

Lee, a vice president of Basic, Inc., is noted for his research in blast furnace construction.

The Lamme Medal, established 31 years ago, is awarded each year to an OSU alumnus for outstanding work in engineering.

L. Duggan in collaboration with John J. Higgins, S.J. (mentioned above). It is subtitled: "An answer to nervous problems; a self-help, family and community program."

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: In my opinion, Dr. Abraham Low's book — "Mental Health Through Will Training"—is little more than an ill-conceived attack on analytic theory and practice.

Will power alone is never enough to permanently abolish patterns and neurotic character patterns, which stem from unresolved unconscious emotional conflicts. Dr. Low's technique is simply one more device for suppressing symptoms.

Such symptom suppression usually means that the man whose complaint is a recurring headache finds complete relief — but, in a short time, he starts having backaches. Permanent relief requires that the patient become aware of his conflicts and their associated "affects,"—and that he work them out to a new level of insight, under the guidance of a trained analyst.

DEAR J.C.: Doubtless there are others who think as you do. But I feel that Dr. Low has helped many; and, in fact, I have much testimonial mail to that effect.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

May on Ohio Turnpike Is Safe, Profitable

CLEVELAND (AP) — Operation of the Ohio Turnpike during May was safe and profitable, the turnpike commission reports.

There were no fatal accidents on the toll road last month, despite the three-day Memorial Holiday which resulted in a record number of deaths on the nation's highways. With 937,000 vehicles using the turnpike in May there were 42 traffic accidents, none fatal.

Revenue for the month was $1,644,000 or $171,000 more than May, 1957, the commission reported.

Defiance County Pet Quarantine Ordered

DEFIANCE (AP) — A countywide pet quarantine has been ordered after a stray coon dog which bit three persons was found to be rabid.

The rabid dog wandered recently to the farm home of William Baden Jr., bit his four-year-old daughter, Linda, and then bit his wife when she went to the rescue. Dog warden Peter Siler also was bitten when he captured the dog.

None was seriously hurt, but each will be forced to undergo anti-rabies treatment.

Foreign turmoil as well as local recession can play a part in some inventory policies. Prices of many metals, rubber, oil, fibers and grains have been affected in the past by overseas upheavals—and a hint of more trouble could cause some industries to build up their supplies rather than go on cutting them.

But the thing that business is watching more closely right now is the evidence that final purchases of goods—mostly by consumers but a part by business—have been running higher than output of goods.

In time this means that inventory piling must stop and industrial output turn upward. In fact, the steady increase in recent weeks in steel output is being credited both to the end of inventory cutting by customers and the urge to beat any price hike July 1.

Dad Frees Son, 7, Tied to Tracks

NORWALK, Calif. (AP) — A small boy, tied to the railroad tracks by two teen-agers, was snatched from certain death by his father, only seconds before a speeding train roared by.

Michael Evans, 7, and two playmates rode their bikes to the tracks. Then two older boys leaped from nearby bushes and threatened them.

The teen-agers let the two playmates go, provided they would keep quiet about Michael's captivity. They ran to Michael's father instead.

The father sprinted to the scene, quickly untied his son and the boy scrambled to his feet just as the train thundered past.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: We read with interest your recent column referring a help-seeker to Recovery, Inc., for group therapy, and mentioning Dr. Abraham Low's book, "Mental Health Through Will Training" (Christopher Publishers, Boston, Mass.).

Your advice was sound. We enjoyed a close personal and social contact with Dr. (and later Mrs.) Low, during the years (after 1928) when he was establishing his practice and pursuing his studies in Chicago.

We followed his intimate discussions of his group-help method, which he was forced to adopt at Illinois Psychiatric — because of the sheer numbers of persons requiring psychiatric attention.

We knew of his struggles and great personal contributions of time and money, to establish and prove Recovery, Inc.

So I was interested to read in your recent column that Recovery, Inc., is still functioning; and still more, that "much has been written in respected journals" in recent years, giving evidence of a "rising tide of usage and approval of the methods outlined." Can you designate the articles to which you refer?

E.S.

DEAR E.S.: In my file of popular literature on the subject of Recovery, Inc., I find these enclosures:

A reprint from the Dec. 6, 1952 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, of an article by Jack Alexander titled "They 'Doctor' One Another."

A reprint from Hospital Progress of March 1955 of an article titled: "On Mental Health-Recovery, Inc." by Rev. John J. Higgins, S.J., adviser to Recovery Inc., at Park College of St. Louis University.

A reprint from America (a monthly periodical) of September 15, 1956, of an article titled "Recovery Inc.," written by Kathleen Rutherford.

A brochure published Jan. 20, 1955 by The Queen's Work, St. Louis, Mo., titled "Recovery Inc.," — and prepared by Martin

Part of Flight Made on Ground

ALPHARETTA, Ga. (AP) — C. G. Dutcher of Winnetka, Ill., made one leg of his flight to Florida on the ground.

Flying his light plane to West Palm Beach, where his wife is, he ran out of gas.

He landed in a corn field, got some gas from a filling station, then taxied down a highway about 10 miles to a baseball field, which provided room for a takeoff.

OSU Engineer Medal To Go to Cleveland

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Benjamin G. Lamme Medal, one of Ohio State University's highest honors, will be awarded Cleveland scientist Harley C. Lee at the university's commencement June 13.

Lee, a vice president of Basic, Inc., is noted for his research in blast furnace construction.

The Lamme Medal, established 31 years ago, is awarded each year to an OSU alumnus for outstanding work in engineering.

L. Duggan in collaboration with John J. Higgins, S.J. (mentioned above). It is subtitled: "An answer to nervous problems; a self-help, family and community program."

M.H.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: In my opinion, Dr. Abraham Low's book — "Mental Health Through Will Training"—is little more than an ill-conceived attack on analytic theory and practice.

Will power alone is never enough to permanently abolish symptoms and neurotic character patterns, which stem from unresolved unconscious emotional conflicts. Dr. Low's technique is simply one more device for suppressing symptoms.

Such symptom suppression usually means that the man whose complaint is a recurring headache finds complete relief — but, in a short time, he starts having backaches. Permanent relief requires that the patient become aware of his conflicts and their associated "affects,"—and that he work them out to a new level of insight, under the guidance of a trained analyst.

J.C.

DEAR J.C.: Doubtless there are others who think as you do. But I feel that Dr. Low has helped many; and, in fact, I have much testimonial mail to that effect.

M.H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Defiance County Pet Quarantine Ordered

DEFIANCE (AP) — A countywide pet quarantine has been ordered after a stray coon dog which bit three persons was found to be rabid.

The rabid dog wandered recently to the farm home of William Baden Jr., bit his four-year-old daughter, Linda, and then bit his wife when she went to the rescue. Dog warden Peter Siler also was bitten when he captured the dog.

None was seriously hurt, but each will be forced to undergo anti-rabies treatment.

THE REV. and MRS. KETNER

June 1st Wedding Unites Miss Francis, Rev. Ketner

Seven branched candelabras, white gladioli, Carnations and palms decorated the altar of the First EUB Church at 2:30 p. m. Sunday when Miss Marjorie Eloise Francis, daughter of Clarence Francis and the late Mrs. Francis, 326 E. Union St., became the bride of the Rev. Frederick M. Ketner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Ketner, Route 1, Hebron.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. F. Gibbs.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned from imported handclipped chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The elongated waistline featured a scalloped sabrina neckline with petite sleeves, all of which were encrusted with tiny perized iridescents.

The full bouffant skirt fell over an old fashioned hoop terminating into a court train. Her finger tip veil of imported french illusion was caught to a crown of matching lace studded with perized iridescents. She carried a white Bible topped with a nosegay of red and white rose buds. Her only jewelry was a pearl and gold necklace with matching earrings, the gift of the groom.

Miss Marilyn Francis, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and Mrs. Edward Hicks, Columbus, the matron of honor. Her attendants ballerina length gowns of pure silk sheer were styled alike along princess lines and draped fichu necklines caught in back by a lovers-bow knot.

Her maid of honor wore strawberry pink and the matron of honor, sea-mist green. They wore identical head bands of yellow carnations and each carried a bouquet of yellow carnations. Their jewelry was a pearl necklace with earrings to match, a gift of the bride.

Mitchell Beal, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer. The Rev. Charles Reed, minister of the First Methodist Church, was the best man, and guests were seated by Robert Helzel, Columbus; Howard Campbell, Pataskala; Paul Congrove and Bill Drumm, Circleville.

A half hour of pre-nuptial music was presented by Miss Lucille Kirkwood, organist. Mr. Laverne Warner, Columbus, vocalist, presented several selections. They included, "Just a Closer Walk", "I Believe", "Oh Sweet Mystery of Life", "My Task" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Mrs. Ketner wore for her sons wedding a pink printed Dacron gown with pink and black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the service center of the church. A five tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the table. On each side of the cake bouquets of roses and lighted tapers were arranged.

Hostesses were: Mrs. Robert Helzel, Columbus; Miss Carol England, Circleville; Mrs. Walter Davidson, sister of the groom, Hebron; Mrs. Melvin Struckman, Mrs. Kelley Alderman and Mrs. Edwin Richardson, Circleville.

For their wedding trip through the south, the bride changed to a navy blue linen dress with navy blue and white accessories and fastened the red roses from her bouquet at the collar of her dress.

After June 10 they will reside on 37 East Como Ave., Columbus 2, Ohio, where the Rev. Ketner is pastor of the Como EUB Church.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School and was secretary at the Second National Bank.

The Rev. Ketner formerly served as minister of the Pickaway EUB Church and is now pastor of Como EUB Church, Columbus. He is also the chaplain of the Ohio National Guard.

Trapeze Fashions Changed Slightly

LONDON (AP)—The trapeze line survives, but with hints of bumps and dents.

That is today's verdict for British women given in the autumn collection of Christian Dior's London branch. It indicated that it will soon be correct to define busts and waistlines slightly. But the trapeze, a little modified and softened, is still the favorite outline. Winter coats were wide and short, some stopping at the knees. Some had scarf collars. Necklines were nearly all loose, standing away from the shoulders.

TV Wagonmaster Develops Ulcer in First 2 Months

By WARD BOND

NEW YORK (AP)—There's no denying that the life of men like Maj. Seth Adams, the wagonmaster I portray in television's "Wagon Train" series, was a rugged one.

But in all the books I've read about frontier life, I haven't yet run across a wagonmaster who got ulcers because of his work.

Unfortunately, I can't say the same for the man who pretends to lead that existence once a week on TV.

After 30 years as a supporting player in motion pictures, they decided I should enter television with star billing. And what happened? Two months later I developed an ulcer.

The troubles we encountered in getting our wagon train from Independence, Mo., to Sacramento, Calif., would have shaken the toughest of last century's wagonmasters.

For one thing, we spent almost a full year making the trip which our real-life counterparts covered in half that time. And the problems of logistics, personnel and time topped anything that was dreamed of 95 years ago.

The show's production office had to consider and solve — for the purposes of the story — all the difficulties that faced the wagon trains of that day. This was the easy part. Because then came the problem of finding good scripts. When the series was begun, in May 1957, there wasn't a single script which could be adapted to our format. Each of the 39 stories presented during the season was written especially for Wagon Train.

The newness of the format, that is, featuring Robert Horton and myself in alternating episodes, with each story built around a name guest star, required not only unusual stories, but a special style of writing.

At least half of every Wagon Train episode was shot on location. Most of them were filmed in the vicinity of Thousand Oaks, Calif., about 40 miles from Hollywood. Others were made at more distant sites, with three filmed in the desert near Tucson, Ariz.

Every day's shooting on location created tremendous problems. First, there was the risk of bad weather. Sites had to be selected for each scene that resembled terrain the wagon train was supposed to be passing through. Then the exact amount of equipment, horses, other livestock, props, costumes and the thousand and one things necessary to film a picture had to be ordered and transported each morning to the shooting site.

Now that I've gotten this off my chest, I'll get ready for another season. Because regardless of the work and worry, I've never experienced a more exciting and self-satisfying year in my life.

Despite Beating, Man Lauds Wife

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A 225-pound man, injured seriously in a spat with his wife when she hit him with the family car, went to bat for the little woman in court Tuesday.

John Albert Green's efforts were successful, but he got the worst of it anyway.

He told the judge his tiny wife "didn't mean to hit me very hard" with the car. The judge dismissed charges of assault and battery against Mrs. Green.

But Green, whose drinking admittedly led to the spat, was fined $50 for drunkenness.

Ohio Petition Passers Busy These Days

Campaigns Launched In All 88 Counties On 'Work Right' Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Petition circulators are busy in all 88 counties these days.

Labor unions are just as active, or soon will be, in urging Ohioans not to sign the petitions.

The campaigns stem from efforts to have voters decide at the polls next Nov. 4 whether workers in many Ohio industries must join a union to keep their jobs.

Election officials predict the drives will combine with activities of office seekers to bring out a heavy vote.

An organization called Ohioans for Right to Work, Inc., says confidently that enough signatures will be obtained to place the issue on ballots in the form of a change in the state constitution.

That claim is disputed by major unions which have formed a group known as United Organized Labor of Ohio. AFL-CIO unionists and officials of the United Mine Workers and Railroad Brotherhoods assert the drive for signatures is meeting increased resistance.

The right to work organization must file with the secretary of state 354,210 valid signatures by Aug. 5 to qualify the proposed constitutional amendment for a decision at the polls.

Voter approval of the amendment would ban union-shop contracts in Ohio. Existing contracts would have a two-year grace period for termination. Such contracts require a worker to join a union to remain employed after a period of work, usually 30 days.

The amendment proposal reads: "No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or nonmembership in, or payment or nonpayment of money to a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state."

Spokesmen for organized labor say the drive seeks to make the open shop compulsory in Ohio. They assert the right to work term is a misnomer intended to turn back the clock to the days of the sweat shop and low pay.

The merged AFL-CIO plans a statewide effort to combat the proposal. The campaign includes voter registration of union members, formation of nonunion citizens committees and use of broadcasts, literature and various forms of advertising.

Workers in small towns already have been issued cards to pass out when they pay bills.

"Union-won wages made these purchases possible," the cards read.

City councils are being urged to adopt resolutions against an open shop ban like the recent stand by that body in Akron where the Rubber Workers' Union is active. A similar stand has been taken by some religious groups.

Walt Davis, director of United Organized Labor and formerly with an AFL labor paper, said efforts are being made to avoid claims of intimidation or coercion of petition signers and circulators.

The right to work organization, headed by Frank J. Egner of Findlay, a truck line operator, made such claims recently and is preparing evidence in alleged new incidents.

Egner claimed that circulators, registered with the state have been contacted by union representatives in ways to warrant criticism and that merchants were

No Serenity in Stars Now

NEW YORK (AP)—The stars will never look the same to us again. In troubled times in the past a man has always been able to walk out into the night, turn his face skyward to the stars and tell himself, "Up there is quiet, peace, serenity." Somehow, in his own loneliness, the lonely sky has always comforted him.

But never again. Dr. Harlow Shapley, retired director of the Harvard College Observatory, has destroyed forever our cherished myth that the sky was either lonely or serene. Lonely? Why it turns out that the heavens are more crowded than a ball park during a free Sunday double header.

Dr. Shapley, who rates the earth as a lowly mudball circling around a third rate star (our sun) estimates there may be 100 quintillion stars in the known universe.

But, hold on. There's worse to come. Man has long speculated there may be forms of life on one or two of our neighboring planets.

This is a piker's view toDr. Shapley. He figures that if even only one out of every trillion stars in the universe has conditions roughly similar to those of our sun, then there may be 100 million planetary systems with life on them.

We don't know how this possibility affects you, but we do know how it has affected us. Ever since reading Dr. Shapley's estimate we have been dreaming, not of seeing flying saucers, but whole flying pantries.

The heavens may house vast griefs than any we have known, but may get to know later.

A hundred million different planets may have different kinds of life in a hundred million different stages.

Some may have people much as ourselves, occupying themselves as they whirl through space with such diversions as children, mortgages, bingo and wars.

Some may have people even more advanced than ourselves, people who have lost the art of locomotion altogether, but developed two heads so they can think through their problems better.

Personally when we go out alone at night now here's what we do. We close our eyes, turn up our face, cup our hands to our mouth and holler, "Halloo, up there! Halloo!"

So far, we are glad to report, we have had no answer.

But we have lost our old fine feeling of fellowship for the stars. They have become strangers forever.

Little Rock School Chief Tells of Integration Tension

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The vice principal of Central High School testified here Monday that during the first year of integration, which ended here last week, she was constantly concerned about violence.

Prim, bespectacled Elizabeth Hucksby, was the first witness in U.S. District Court, where a petition by the Little Rock School Board for a 2-year suspension of integration is being heard.

Describing the atmosphere of the last nine months at Central High, Mrs. Hucksby told the court teachers came to her atremble; some were weeping.

She said, in answer to an attorney's question, that "I have no reason to think there will be any change" next year if integration continues.

The board, which had supported Supt. Virgil Blossom's plan for gradual integration on the basis that compliance with the U.S. Supreme Court integration order was the only legal approach, now contends the year's experience with the plan disrupted the educational process.

Thurgood Marshall, Negro attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People opposing the board's petition, asked Mrs. Hucksby to identify the white ring leaders of racial incidents that marred the school year.

"Sammie Dean Parker was the leader," Mrs. Hucksby answered. Sammie Dean was expelled last winter for displaying a printed card which read "One down; eight to go" — an obvious reference to the expulsion of Negro pupil Minni Jean Brown, one of the nine Negroes enrolled at Central.

The Negro girl accepted a scholarship to an integrated private school in New York and Sammie Dean was allowed to return to Central on her promise that she would not become involved in racial incidents.

"Do you think removal of the Negro children would solve the problem?" Marshall asked Mrs. Hucksby.

"I would say ringleaders of the school seemed to me to be under directions from the outside. I think the problem can be solved by their (the outsiders) identification and control by the courts."

Dime Store Tax Case Continues

COLUMBUS (AP) — The largest sales tax assessment case in Ohio's history moves into its third day today. The state claims S. S. Kresge Co. owes the state $396,579 in sales taxes for a four-year period.

In the hearing Tuesday a company witness, Malcolm McNair of the Harvard University School of Business, told the State Board of Tax Appeals his calculations show the company owes only $46,000.

The state's claim is based on a test check of some Kresge stores in 1956. But McNair told the board that examiners could not tell what sales were in previous years because during 1956 more expensive merchandise was sold.

The assessment covers 36 of 83 Kresge stores in Ohio and sales from 1952 through 1955.

Findlay Tire Firm Aided By House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Tuesday passed a bill to partially repay Cooper Tire & Rubber Co. of Findlay, Ohio, and Clarksdale, Miss., for money it claims it lost in government tire contracts during the Korean Conflict.

The bill, which still requires Senate action, will pay the company $616,911.88. The company claims its damages were $1,811,333.38. The loss was incurred, Cooper stated, because it had contracted to make tires, tubes and camels back for the military in 1950 at fixed prices. Then the Korean Conflict broke out and the firm had to buy rubber at much increased prices.

The House Judiciary Committee which cut down the original claim, stated in a report:

"It is clear that the Cooper Tire & Rubber Co. avoided bankruptcy and remained in business only because of its civilian business during the Korean War period.

In Findlay, Cooper President W. B. Brewer said:

"The House action was partial recognition of the hardship experienced by Cooper as a result of the contract arrangements."

He explained that at one time the company was near financial collapse, but added that it was now back on firm ground again.

Electricity— Miracle Maker

By MRS. LEORA SAYRE
County Home Economics Agent

Not too many years ago the best housekeeper was the homemaker who put the most time and effort into the manual labor of keeping her house in order.

Modern technology has brought to the "very important person" (the homemaker) available freedom from drudgery. A number of industries have developed around the idea of lightening the homemaker's load.

From the largest piece of equipment down to better can openers, all have eased the homemaker's burden by improving on something already in use.

These new and improved ways of living began with the advent of electricity. This "miracle ingredient" was locked up in ignorance until Benjamin Franklin let it out with a pass key.

Since the discovery of this item, which no one has ever seen, it has been startling people with its power and glory. With electricity one can light, heat, cool and clean houses; cut out, make, wash, dry and iron clothes; chill, freeze and cook food; dispose of food waste and wash the dishes; provide continuous and easy education and entertainment; start a conversation or stop one permanently.

THE FIRST ITEM in the parade of improved equipment with electrical science was taking the iron off the top of the stove. Today it is an highly refined, thermostatically controlled device that few homemakers do without.

Today the realm of appliances with controlled heat is broad but order by president Patty Moats. Carol Davis led the club in the pledge to the flag and the 4-H pledge.

Demonstrations were given by Doris Azbell on how to pin on a pattern, Bonnie Dudleson on color scheme, and Lois Wilson on how to thread a sewing machine.

Refreshments were served by Janice Riffle, Carolyn Webb, and Carol Davis.

The sixth meeting of the Logan Elm Sunny Sewers was opened by Patty Moats. The pledge to the flag and the 4-H pledge were led by Barbara Dudleson. The roll was answered by 27 club members.

We are buying a sleeve board for the Home Economics room. A demonstration was given by Janet McGinnon on choosing the right clothes for the right occasion. Refreshments were served by Lois and Katie Wilson and Sandra Spiller. The next meeting will be June 11.

Scioto Hardy Workers
By Cheryl Thomas

The sixth meeting of the Scioto Hardy Workers was called to order by Carolyn Gulick. Cathy Roesel led the 4-H pledge. We answered the roll call by naming a community project. We decided to buy salt and pepper shakers for the school.

We looked at the cooking members' sandwiches. After the meeting refreshments were served.

The local judging is at 9 a. m. July 30. The next meeting is June 10.

continues to be advanced by new and different techniques with the "miracle ingredient" electricity being the lead figure on the stage. It is possible for the average homemaker to spend as little as 90 minutes a day on meal preparation.

Each new device or change of one that was new, presents a challenge to the family member most involved. This challenge should be strong enough to cause all handy or electrified gadgets in possession to be ready for immediate use at any time. The owner should be capable of managing all home properties instead of being managed by them.

Are we kind and knowing friends of the volt, amp, watt trio? Do we know which does what? Regardless of whether one lone thin slice of bread is being toasted or two 24-pound turkeys are being roasted, if electricity is "harnessed" volts, amperes, and watts are cooperatively busy.

In Homemaker Clubs of Extension Service, there are continuing and related "Know What, Why, and How Projects" to help in recognizing and utilizing improvement and meeting challenges—even though one may never have an electronic range.

Electrical housewares are major actors on the double feature stage of changing family food patterns and creating more family-centered activities.

Surveys show that mechanically-minded family members favor electrical appliances which are automatically controlled—such as percolators and toasters. There has been a noticeable preference for equipment with fullest possible use—such as the square shaped fry pan with greater capacity.

According to statistics, much of the household equipment today is bought on the installment plan. It seems so easy to buy this way that many families may purchase more than necessary and may continue to pay long after the appliances begin to wear out.

Aside from the really necessary category, some of the reasons for buying equipment today are—to keep up with or compete with another person or family; beauty of a new model, prestige, for gifts, or to fill a space. All reasons caused the spending of over $5 billion last year for household appliances. Of this amount, over $1½ billion went for electrical housewares.

A questionnaire study in different areas shows that five popular gift appliances are lamps, clocks, coffee makers, toasters and fry pans.

The majority of today's homes can be a background for creative living—if all members recognize, control, and appreciate the electrical power that seems to be unlimited.

Homemakers would not think of hanging clothes on a clothesline that was ready to break, but they may not hesitate to overload small electrical wires by plugging in too many appliances!

To bore a large hole over an existing smaller one, drive a wood plug or dowel into the small hole. It is then easy to center the large one.

Flies, Perennial Pests, Need Careful Controlling

By George Hamrick
County Agricultural Agent

The house fly probably is the most widely known of all insects. Its ability to spread disease-causing organisms which affect the health of man and animals makes it an important insect pest.

The ability of house flies to increase from a very few overwintering adults to the tremendous populations in August and September is phenomenal. A single female may lay as many as 2,700 eggs in 30 days. Eggs hatch in a few hours and the maggots feed in manure or decaying organic matter for approximately a week.

The larvae then crawl near the surface where they transform to pupae. The pupal stage usually lasts 3-4 days after which time the adult fly emerges. The female starts laying eggs 5-6 days after emerging. The life cycle usually is completed in 10-20 days depending on the temperature. There may be as many as 10-12 generations a year in Ohio.

Despite recent advances in the development of new insecticides, sanitation remains an important part of an effective fly control program. By eliminating fly-breeding places we prevent the development of the flies and thus aid the elimination of our fly problem.

Keep garbage stored in tight metal cans, remove accumulations of manure and rotting straw twice a week, and check animal pens, chicken houses, seepage areas around the silo for possible fly-breeding areas. Unless such breeding places are detected and eliminated the fly control program will be ineffective.

SCREENS ON WINDOWS and doors are essential in keeping flies out of homes, public eating places, milk-rooms and food processing plants. Screen doors should swing outward and be kept in good repair.

Residual sprays are applied on a surface where they persist for several weeks killing flies which later come to rest there. Flies in most areas of Ohio are highly resistant to DDT and similar insecticides. Malathion, and Diazinon are the most effective residual wall sprays at the present. Lindane is becoming ineffective because flies are developing resistance to it.

"Diazinon"—This new phosphate fly spray has a longer residual action than Malathion, and has been approved recently for use in the dairy barn. It is marketed as a 25 per cent emulsion concentrate. Use: ½ pint of the concentrate in 3 gallons of water or .2 gallons of the concentrate in 100 gallons of water.

Care should be used in handling Diazinon to avoid contact of the concentrate and spray with skin and eyes. Diazinon sprays should never be used on animals.

Malathion gives good control of resistant flies and is approved for use in the dairy barn. It is available as a 50 per cent emulsion concentrate, or a 25 per cent wettable powder.

Several kinds of ready-to-use

space sprays are available for killing flies inside the home or in other enclosed spaces. Such sprays containing Pyrethrum, Allethrin, or Thiocyanates plus Synergist are very effective. They kill flies present at the time but do not give any residual control. They should be applied daily with hand sprayers, aerosol bombs, and mist or fog sprayers.

Fogging devices are now available for use in dairy barns which fog the entire barn in a very short time. They may be operated by electricity or compressed air and are either permanently installed, or portable. They do an excellent job of quickly killing the flies on the animals and inside the closed barn. Frequent applications are necessary.

Poisoned, dry baits are valuable for controlling flies in limited areas. If applied properly they can be used in most farm buildings without endangering livestock. The bait should be sprinkled thinly on horizontal surfaces out of the reach of livestock. Be careful not to contaminate animal feed, water, or utensils.

THESE READY-TO-USE dry baits contain either Malathion, Diazinon, or Bayer L-13-59, as the toxicant. They are not recommended for use in homes, milkrooms or restaurants. They should be stored out of reach of children.

Smears, or "paint-on" baits give good control in some areas particularly around animal pens where the floor or ground is covered with litter. The bait is applied with a paint brush to areas where flies

Bricker Seaway Vote Is Rapped

MANSFIELD (AP) — U. S. Sen.

John W. Bricker's vote against the St. Lawrence Seaway was "selfish and shameful," says Stephen M. Young, Democratic candidate for the Senate.

Young faces Bricker, the Republican incumbent, in next fall's election.

Addressing a campaign rally here Tuesday night, Young said Bricker was the only Ohio member of Congress to vote against the Seaway project.

"His continued opposition to the St. Lawrence Seaway was shocking and outrageous and against the personal interest of every Ohio citizen and the welfare of our nation," Young said. "He voted for the special interest of the Pennsylvania Railroad which he represents as a lawyer."

rest, such as railings, posts, board fences, etc. Corn sirup, molasses, or a thick sugar water containing about 1 per cent of one of the recommended phosphorus insecticides makes a satisfactory "paint-on" bait. Apply the bait when flies become numerous.

Liquid phosphorus baits can be prepared by adding sugar to a mixture of the insecticide and water. Use one tablespoon of 25 per cent emulsifiable concentrate, or 2 tablespoons of 25 per cent wettable powder in one gallon water plus 2 cups of sugar. Liquid baits can be applied with a sprinkling can to clean floors, or burlap bags placed in areas where flies accumulate.

Maggot control can be aided by using this same bait solution without the sugar sprayed or sprinkled, drenching the surface of manure in stalls, loafing sheds, and outdoor manure piles.

Flies, Perennial Pests, Need Careful Controlling

By George Hamrick

The house fly probably is the most widely known of all insects. Its ability to spread disease-causing organisms which affect the health of man and animals makes it an important insect pest.

Despite recent advances in the development of new insecticides, sanitation remains an important part of an effective fly control program. By eliminating fly-breeding places we prevent the development of the flies and thus aid the elimination of our fly problem.

Keep garbage stored in tight metal cans, remove accumulations of manure and rotting straw twice a week, and check animal pens, chicken houses, seepage areas around the silo for possible fly-breeding areas. Unless such breeding places are detected and eliminated the fly control program will be ineffective.

Residual sprays are applied on a surface where they persist for several weeks killing flies which later come to rest there. Flies in most areas of Ohio are highly resistant to DDT and similar insecticides. Malathion, and Dizinon are the most effective residual wall sprays at the present. Lindane is becoming ineffective because flies are developing resistance to it.

"Dizinon" - This new phosphate fly spray has a longer residual action than Malathion, and has been approved recently for use in the dairy barn. It is marketed as a 25 per cent emulsion concentrate. Use: ½ pint of the concentrate in 3 gallons of water or 2 gallons of the concentrate in 100 gallons of water.

Care should be used in handling Dizinon to avoid contact of the concentrate and spray with skin and eyes. Dizinon sprays should never be used on animals.

Malathion gives good control of resistant flies and is approved for use in the dairy barn. It is available as a 50 per cent emulsion concentrate, or a 25 per cent wettable powder.

Several kinds of ready-to-use

space sprays are available for killing flies inside the home or in other enclosed spaces. Such sprays containing Pyrethrum, Allethrin, or "thiocyanates plus Synergist are very effective. They kill flies present at the time but do not give any residual control. They should be applied daily with hand sprayers, aerosol bombs, and mist or fog sprayers.

Fogging devices are now available for use in dairy barns which fog the entire barn in a very short time. They may be operated by electricity or compressed air and are either permanently installed, or portable. They do an excellent job of quickly killing the flies on the animals and inside the closed barn. Frequent applications are necessary.

Brave Bats Boom 12 Homers in 4 Tilts, Take First

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Milwaukee Braves have rediscovered the home run, 'slamming' back into the National League lead by walloping 12 in their last four games.

The champs belted five, their best one-game total of the year, and made them good for all but one of their runs in a 7-6 decision at San Francisco Tuesday night. The Giants were shoved back into second place, .010 percentage points behind.

Wes Covington and Hank Aaron each hit a pair. Covington's second haul the Braves from behind in the eighth inning and Aaron's second clinched it in the ninth.

There were at least two home runs in every NL game Tuesday—except at Los Angeles. That cozy-corner in the Coliseum gave up just one, a sliced shot by Duke Snider, as Cincinnati used a bunch of walks for an 8-3 victory over the Dodgers.

St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 8-4 on two-run homers by Stan Musial and Joe Cunningham, and the Chicago Cubs clobbered Philadelphia 12-4 with Ernie Banks hitting his 14th homer, tops in the NL.

In the American League, the New York Yankees belted Chicago 13-0 on Johnny Kucks, two-hitter. Washington swept a twin-night pair from Kansas City 5-4 and 10-9. Boston beat Cleveland 7-3, and Baltimore defeated Detroit 2-0 on Arnie Portocarrero's six-hitter.

Cunningham's second home run of the season junked a 4-all tie against losing reliever Curt Raydon (0-2) in the fourth for the Cardinals. Musial slugged his 390th in the majors, ninth this year, in the sixth. He drove in three runs. Larry Jackson won his fourth although allowing 10 hits, including home runs by Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski.

The Redlegs had nine walks, five of them in a six-run third off loser Sandy Koufax, who didn't allow a hit while giving up five runs. Don Hoak's three-run double was the only hit in the big frame, and the ex-Dodger also stole home in the inning. Brooks Lawrence won it.

Banks was 4-for-4 for the Cubs, who also had a homer from Cal Neuman as unbeaten Taylor Phillips won his fourth. Curt Simmons lost his sixth.

That's a heckuva race going on in the American League—behind in the New York Yankees, that is.

Only four games separate second-place Kansas City and last-place Baltimore. But the A's are 8½ behind the Yankees.

The Yankees clobbered Chicago 13-0 Tuesday night, rapping three home runs in support of Johnny Kucks' two-hit pitching that extended the White Sox's scoreless slump to 30 innings. It was the ninth shutout by the Yankee staff this season.

The Washington Senators, who hadn't managed a double-header sweep since Aug. 16, 1956, until they took two from the Yankees Memorial Day, now have done it twice in five days. They jumped into a third-place tie with Boston, just two games behind Kansas City, by beating the A's 5-4 and 10-9.

Boston beat Cleveland 7-3, and Baltimore shut out Detroit 2-0 on Arnie Portocarrero's six-hitter.

In the National League, Milwaukee regained first place by .010 percentage points over San Francisco by beating the Giants 7-6. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 8-4, the Chicago Cubs whipped Philadelphia 12-4 and Cincinnati beat Los Angeles 8-3.

While Kucks (4-1) no-hit Chicago over the final 6 2/3 innings, the Yankees shelled Dick Donovan before he retired a man in a four-run first. Mickey Mantle hit a three-run homer and Bill Skowron socked a solo homer on consecutive tosses by the big right-hander, now 2-6 with his third straight loss.

Yogi Berra hit his sixth home run for the Yankees.

Billy Goodman, out since May 6 with a leg injury, singled for both hits by the Sox.

The Senators scored four in the first game first, then got the clincher on Roy Sievers' ninth home run in the second inning. Ralph Terry (2-5) lost it with Russ Kemmerer winning his second. Dick Hyde relieved in the ninth after Bob Cerv, who hit his 15th homer in the fourth, singled home two runs.

Herb Plews committed four errors in the nightcap, tying an often-tied AL record for third baseman, and booted three in the seventh, when the A's scored two for a 9-6 lead. But the Senators hustled back with four in the eighth, with Plews doubling home two and scoring the tying run. Albie Pearson scored the clincher on an error. Truman Clevenger (3-3) won it in relief. Duke Maas (2-5) lost it in relief.

Portocarrero got his second in a row with the help of four double plays. Jim Bunning lost his fifth, giving up a single to Jim Marshall and Foster Castleman's double for a run in the second and a bases-loaded single by Gene Woodling for another in the fifth.

Dick Gernert hit a three-run homer for a 5-0 Boston lead in the fifth against starter-loser Mudcat Grant (4-3). Tom Brewer won his first since April 23 with relief help in the ninth, although all the Tribe runs were unearned.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A galaxy of track stars featuring Glenn Davis, the world record equaler in the 440-yard dash, and the Bobby Morrow-powered sprint combinations of Abilene Christian College will line up Saturday in the annual Meet of Champions.

Athletes from six major conferences and 28 states are entered in the meet, sponsored by the University of Houston.

The Abilene Christian 440-yard relay team that bettered the world's record with 39.7 at the California Relays Saturday faces strong opposition from the University of Houston, which will bring three brilliant freshmen up to the varsity and run as the Houston Track and Field Club.

Morrow did 9.4 at Modesto in returning to the form that made him 1956 sprint champion of the Olympic Games. He is entered in both the 100 and 220.

Stan Levenson, Houston freshman who has done 20.5, will contest Morrow in the 220, while in the 100 the Abilene Christian star will get competition from Dee Givens of Oklahoma, Illinois' Bob Mitchell, the Big Ten sprint king, and Morrow's teammate Bill Woodhouse, who has beaten him twice this season.

Each of the 17 events is crowded with champions, including Oklahoma's brilliant miler Gail Hodgson of South Africa, Southern Methodist's high jumper Don Stewart, who has leaped 6-10½, and distance ace Jerry Smartt of Houston.

Davis, who recently tied the world's record in the 440 at 45.8, gets competition from George Keer of Illinois, who pushed him to the great time, DeLoss Dodds of Kansas State, Oklahoma's Gary Parr and Southern Methodist's John Emmett.

Indians Try Again to Top Boston '9'

BOSTON (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, struggling along with a four-game losing streak, sent Ray Narleski (6-4) against Boston's Frank Sullivan (2-1) in the second game of a three-game series today.

The Indians were whipped by the Red Sox 7-3 Tuesday night, the second time this season they had lost four in a row.

The Tribe loaded the bases in the ninth on successive singles by Rocky Colavito, Russ Nixon and Chico Carrasquel.

It appeared Cleveland was going to get back into the contest, chasing starter Tom Brewer in the process. But Murray Wall was summoned from the bullpen and the ace relief man set the Indians down on just eight pitches.

The victory ended Boston's three-game losing spell and dropped the Indians into fifth place.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant failed again in a bid for his fifth victory and was tagged with his third loss.

Boston held a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning and Dick Gernert's three-run homer in the fifth made it 5-0.

Held to one hit in six innings by Brewer, the Tribe scored three times in the seventh frame, but the Red Sox added two clinching runs that same inning.

Cleveland used three pitchers in addition to Grant, who hurled four innings—Dick Tomarek, Bob Kelly and Hoyt Wilhelm.

Pacific League Nearing Oblivion

SEATTLE (AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference, which has endured attacks from within and without for 43 years, was tottering on the brink of oblivion today.

Round Table paid the shortest price of the 1958 Gulfstream Park thoroughbred meeting when he returned $2.40 in taking the Gulfstream Park Handicap.

Tony Ruvo, Colby junior from Rutherford, N.J., hurled the second no-hit, no-run game in the school's history when he beat Williams this spring.

The Stanford University board of trustees probably will administer the coup de grace to the PCC when the board meets at Stanford June 19.

At that time the board will undoubtedly be asked to permit Stanford to jump the PCC and line up with Washington, California, UCLA and Southern California in a new "Big Five" athletic association.

The only remaining members of the PCC, as of July 1, 1959, would be Washington State, Idaho, Oregon State and Oregon.

SEATTLE (AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference, which has endured attacks from within and without for 43 years, was tottering on the brink of oblivion today.

Round Table paid the shortest price of the 1958 Gulfstream Park thoroughbred meeting when he returned $2.40 in taking the Gulfstream Park Handicap.

Tony Ruvo, Colby junior from Rutherford, N.J., hurled the second no-hit, no-run game in the school's history when he beat Williams this spring.

The Stanford University board of trustees probably will administer the coup de grace to the PCC when the board meets at Stanford June 19.

At that time the board will undoubtedly be asked to permit Stanford to jump the PCC and line up with Washington, California, UCLA and Southern California in a new "Big Five" athletic association.

The only remaining members of the PCC, as of July 1, 1959, would be Washington State, Idaho, Oregon State and Oregon.

Dallas Open Boss Irked By Big Pros

DALLAS (AP)—Promoter Jim Ling of the $25,000 Dallas Open smoldered today over so many top golfers skipping his tournament but he still maintained that he would have one of the best fields of the year when the 72-hole grind starts Thursday.

Ling fired a protest to the PGA Tuesday when he learned that Masters champion Arnold Palmer, Bill Casper, Paul Harney and Jay Hebert had joined the growing list of players who won't be here because they reportedly want to practice at Tulsa for the National Open. He didn't expect to get anywhere with the protest since the four were not in the official tournament list.

Ben Hogan previously had passed up the tournament to practice at Tulsa. National Open champion Dick Mayer and National PGA champion Lionel Hebert can't make it because of National Golf Day. Several of the minor lights are staying out because of the travel involved and because of the injuries, etc.

But Sam Snead, a major attraction for any tournament, and Ken Venturi, the brilliant young man from San Francisco who has won more tournaments this year than anybody—three, are in the field.

So are Doug Ford, Ed Oliver, Billy Maxwell, Roberto de Vicenzo, Dow Finsterwald, Mike Souchak, Tommy Bolt, Chick Harbert, Cary Middlecoff, Gene Littler, Fred Hawkins, Gary Player, Howie Johnson, George Bayer, Ernie Vossler, Doug Sanders, Julius Boros and Don January.

Redlegs Chalk 5-Hit, 8-Run Win Over LA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts might just as well have saved his energy when he told his Cincinnati Redlegs to ignore the short left fence here and concentrate on a normal swing.

At least for Tuesday night the Redlegs didn't have to do much but swinging.

They got only five hits off an assortment of five Los Angeles Dodgers pitchers but they came up with an 8-3 victory as the Dodger hurlers handed out nine walks, contributed a wild pitch and allowed a runner to steal home.

To make the situation even stranger, 12 Redlegs struck out.

Brooks Lawrence completed his first starting pitching assignment of the season and his first since last Sept. 18. He also gave up only five hits but he staggered around at times like a punch drunk prize fighter. The Dodgers came close several times to knocking him out but he always came through with enough to halt them.

Although the Redlegs, with the lineup studded with right handed hitters, never came close to bothering the short left field screen, they never needed such hitting after the third inning when they scored six runs on only one hit.

In that frame Sandy Koufax got two men out after walking Gus Bell and then walked three straight hitters to force in a run. He threw two more balls to Steve Bilko before Don Bessent was rushed in.

Bessent finished the job of walking Bilko to force in another run. After that Don Hoak doubled to drive in three runs and he went to third on the play at the plate. The fiery third sacker added insult to injury by stealing home.

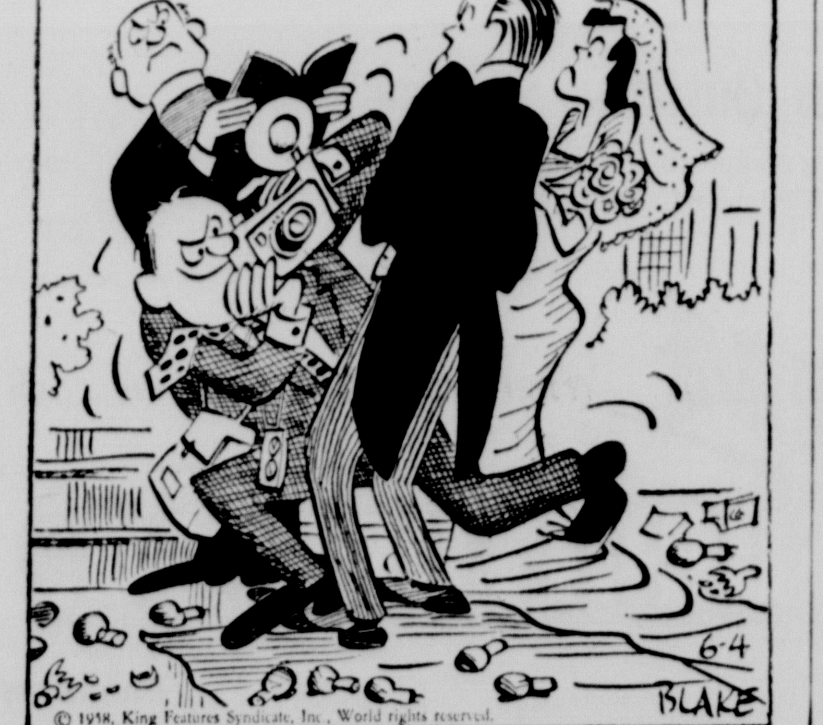

Law Practice' Injunction Hit

FINDLAY (AP)—A Findlay real estate and insurance agent Tuesday asked the Third District Court of Appeals to dismiss an injunction barring him from unauthorized practice of law.

Henry County common pleas court issued the injunction against Vic Snyder and three others after the Findlay Bar Assn. complained they had filed out wills, deeds and other documents for various people.

The bar association claims only its members should fill out such papers.

Snyder contends he violated no state laws and that no complaining witnesses testified against him.

Methodists Gain 1 Pct. In Members

LAKESIDE, Ohio (AP)—The 655 pastoral charges in the Ohio Methodist Conference gained 3,405 members and increased their giving for all purposes by $3,125, 991 last year.

That was in a report made to 1,400 delegates to the 147th annual conference which opened Tuesday and continues through this week.

The Rev. Charles Farthing of Columbus, conference treasurer, said membership currently was $39,336, and contributions in the last year totaled $18,403,122. Church property was valued at $79,898,018—an all-time high.

Dr. Walter Dickhaut of Zanesville, chairman of the cabinet of superintendents for the conference's 11 districts, expressed concern that church membership had gained only about one per cent in the last year.

An Ohio area study adopted last plans for Methodist Church growth in Ohio estimated that an annual increase of about 3 per cent would be needed if membership is to keep pace with population growth.

The bar association claims only its members should fill out such papers.

Snyder contends he violated no state laws and that no complaining witnesses testified against him.

Fullmer, Miceli Set for TV Bout

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Youthful Jay Fullmer and seasoned welterweight Joe Miceli of New York battle here tonight in a 10-round bout that marks Fullmer's debut in television as well as big time opposition.

Fullmer, 21, has more finesse and speed than his older brother, Gene, the former middleweight champion. But hometown partisans wonder whether it will be enough to counter Miceli's experience.

The bout will be televised nationally by ABC-TV, 9 p. m. EST.

Yankee Upsets British Champion

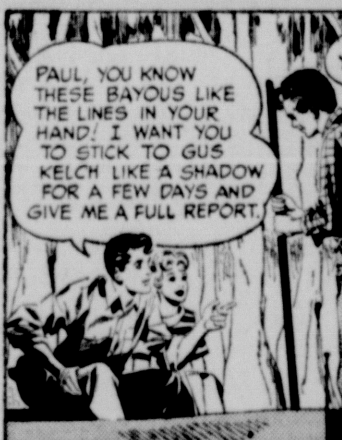

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Jack Penrose, a 43-year-old insurance man from Miami, Fla., upset defending champion Reid Jack of Scotland 3 and 2 in the third round of the British Amateur Golf Championship today.

Council Approves Main St. Paving Job—Cost $9,600

Main St. will be paved from the Norfolk and Western Railway tracks to Mingo St. in the near future.

City Council last night took the steps necessary to launch the project in conjunction with the State Highway Department.

The lawmakers passed a consent ordinance, a resolution asking the city auditor to certify the life of the project and a note ordinance.

Cost of the city of paving the .88 mile stretch will be about $9,600. That will pay for paving, 12.8 per cent of the traveled portion of the street and 100 per cent of the parking area along the street.

The state highway department, with federal aid, will pay for the balance of the construction cost.

COUNCIL ASKED Service Director Carl Radcliff to contact all persons owning property along Main St., in the area to be paved, to repair curbs and gutters in preparation for the new project. The body appropriated $1,883.78 from the water works operating fund for the purchase of two outstanding water works $1,000 bonds. Purchase of the bonds will allow the water works to retire a portion of its outstanding debt.

Councilman John Jenkins told the legislators that an automobile wrecking yard adjacent to 369 E. Franklin St. is a fire and health hazard. The property is owned by Fire Chief Talmer Wise. Jenkins said that wrecked autos and auto parts are harboring rats

School Closing Is Marred by Food Poison

MARION, N. C. (P)—Food poisoning turned a gay year's-end school luncheon into a nightmare for 202 retching, screaming children and teachers at a small grade school Tuesday.

The tide of ill youngsters completely overran the small community hospital and taxed emergency facilities at the school.

Doctors said all patients will recover.

The sudden emergency was met quickly when officials at Marion General Hospital executed a never-practiced hospital disaster plan.

The 60-bed Marion General Hospital admitted 202 children and teachers from the 227-pupil Eugene Cross Elementary School.

Dr. W. F. E. Lottin, public health officer, suspected that the poisoning came from ham.

The hospital, alerted by school officials when the first symptoms appeared about two hours after lunch, started preparations immediately for handling an emergency situation. Hospital staff members moved 19 ambulatory patients to nearby nurses quarters, discharged four patients and emptied all hospital beds except four.

Additional beds, many of them cots and roll-aways donated by townspeople after a radio appeal, were placed in hospital corridors. The nurses' lounge and living room became wards.

The town's medical force was supplemented by nurses and rescue squads from nearby towns.

House Ponders Cut In Army Strength

WASHINGTON (P)—The House faced a decision today on whether to take "a calculated risk" and cut the strength of the Army from 900,000 to 870,000 men during the year starting July 1. The Eisenhower administration favors the cut.

At issue is an amendment that would add $99 million to a bill appropriating $38.3 billion to run the Defense Department during the 1958-59 fiscal year.

The big money bill, as sent to the House by its Appropriations Committee, provides among other things for an 870,000-man Army June 30, 1959. That is 30,000 less than projected strength at the end of this month and 127,000 below actual strength last June 30.

and the place is unsightly. Chief Wise declared that the yard has been in operation there for more than 30 years and persons in the area knew it there before they moved adjacent to it. He said that it complies with the city planning ordinance in that it was there long before the ordinance was passed by Council.

The matter was referred to the Council Safety Committee.

Baldwin Anderson, operator of Boyer's Sandwich Shop, 504 S. Court St., protested the closing of his place at 11 p. m. as required by city ordinance. He said the ordinance was directed at his place, while other businesses are permitted to be open after 11 p. m. He asked Council why the 11 p. m. closing ordinance was passed.

The lawmakers declared the ordinance was not directed at the sandwich shop particularly, but that most business in residential areas were considered a nuisance when they stayed open past the 11 p. m. hour.

Venezuela Cool To Americans

Nixon Troop Move Draws Criticism

By LARRY ALLEN
CARACAS (P)—There are 40,000 Americans in Venezuela. Do the Venezuelans like them?

Most Americans say "yes," but not the Venezuelans.

A feeling against Americans is acute in the worker and white-collar classes.

Said one government worker: "Unfortunately, it isn't true that most of the Venezuelans people like Americans. Americans get that opinion of themselves through associates in business, or the relatively small groups of high Venezuelan society with which they come in contact."

"There are tens of thousands of Venezuelans who feel that they are not making enough out of their jobs, and that many posts are given to newly arriving Americans after they have been run and operated by Venezuelans."

"Outside Caracas, there's widespread unemployment, thousands live in poverty and squalor."

Some Venezuelans interviewed say relations with the United States are deteriorating.

The Americans here seem sure of one thing — that they had a close shave after the rioting against Vice President Nixon in Caracas May 13. As one put it: "Whatever caused Washington to order troops sent to Puerto Rico for a possible shift into Venezuela: Apparently someone overlooked that more than the Nixons might have been in danger."

"There seems little doubt the Venezuelans would have been so enraged that they would have

Neil House Guest Dies In Room Fire

COLUMBUS (P)—Fire roared through a seventh-floor suite in the Neil House here early today, killing one resident and forcing other guests to take to window ledges.

The fire department identified the victim as Joe Lewis, 63, proprietor of a Columbus flower shop who made his home in the hotel.

Firemen said they led several guests to safety, including some who had taken to window ledges when the flames began licking through the windows of Lewis' two-room suite. Several guests had to be awakened, they added.

Aerial ladders weren't long enough to extend to the seventh floor, about 105 feet up, and the rescued guests were taken to the main floor via elevators.

Firemen estimated damage at $800 to the building and $1,000 to the contents.

The hotel's night manager, Ralph Fox, said some guests were evacuated in their night clothes. They went to the hotel lobby and were reassigned to other rooms.

Lewis' rooms were fire-scarred and other rooms in the vicinity suffered smoke and water damage, Fox said.

The night manager added that it appeared the fire was started by a cigarette igniting a mattress. He said Lewis, although burned, apparently was asphyxiated.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

- The Other Half
- Body Temperature
- Heart Murmurs

Q. How do our health standards compare with those of other countries?

A. Certain foreign countries have very high standards but looking at the world as a whole, people in the United States and Canada live in a health paradise. More people live in huts of straw or mud than in any other type of building. More people are born, live their lives, and die without the help of doctors of medicine (M.D.'s) than those who have trained doctors to help them. These and other shocking facts were recently revealed by the World Health Organization.

Q. Does body temperature stay the same during summer and winter?

A. Yes. Body temperature is kept at normal levels, regardless of the weather, by a built-in heat regulator or body thermostat. Doctors know of one exception — the Australian aborigine. Those naked little folk live in an area where the temperature drops from 90 degrees during the day to just above freezing at night. Strange as it may seem, the body temperature of these primitive people falls as much as 4 degrees at night. The skin temperature may go as low as 13 degrees below normal. Such indifference to temperature changes is not known to occur among other races.

Q. Are heart murmurs in children a sign of serious disease?

A. Not always. Two English physicians examined 100 normal youngsters and found that 96 had heart murmur. The heart sounds apparently meant nothing. But certain types of heart murmurs may spell real trouble. Doctors have ways of telling whether murmurs indicate heart trouble or whether the sounds are harmless.

Rocket Explosion Hurts 3 Soldiers

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—Three Army officers at this artillery and missile center were injured slightly when an Honest John rocket exploded on its launcher.

The warhead blew up, igniting the rocket motor which sent the 17-foot missile zigzagging 400 yards on the ground.
